Your insurance company can tell you whether these charges will be paid or will go towards your deductible. We do not have details on how your policy will cover our claim; you will be responsible for balances that insurance applies to your deductible.

If you have an HMO it is your responsibility to provide a valid referral to us.

Appointments that are cancelled with less than 24 hours notice – or that are “no show” – will be subject to a $50.00 fee.

I have read and understand the above.
